REPUBLIC BUILDING, SPRINGFIELD, OHIO.

Telephone No. 350.

WEDNESDAY EVENING, NOVEMBER 9, 1887.

Bye-bye, Abell.

Carry the news to Grover.

Our eagle is quite a healthy bird.

The rebel flags will not be returned.

There are no more money in Ohio.

The Lord roars! Let nobody forget it.

Where was Abell when the light went out?

Ohio has returned to her war time minorities.

Pennsylvania and Massachusetts—each 90,000 republican.

Bring on your Thanksgiving day, Grover! We are ready for it.

If "Old Clark" isn't the banner republican county, she's 'most.

We reside in Ohio—we do. And in Springfield, Clark county.

The last grand republican picnic of the season was held Tuesday.

It is evident that anti-boodle democrats stayed at home Tuesday.

Mr. Grover Cleveland: The state of Ohio presents you a robust snub!

The union laborer didn't sell out to the democrats or trade with them.

The old REPUBLIC "got that" in great shape, this morning. It always does.

Patriotism was abroad in Ohio Tuesday and her hand writing is upon the wall.

Statesman Abell now realizes, perhaps, that his patent medicine dodge was loaded.

The bouncing of Uncle Jimmy Johnson, by President Cleveland, didn't help Powell.

Warmed-over republicans (such as Powell) do not run well as democratic candidates.

The Enquirer gives Foraker 20,000 majority and the legislature to the republicans.

Isn't the REPUBLIC's bird a beauty? It is the bird of freedom and she screams for Foraker.

The man who isn't proud of Springfield and "Old Clark" must be rather sleepy or very tired.

"Thanks be to God, who giveth us the victory." And let all true and devout patriots say Amen!

The tariff, equal rights, a free ballot and a fair count are the issues of the presidential campaign.

Will our amiable friend, Dr. Leonard, please come over and kill the republican party some more?

THE ELECTIONS OF TUESDAY.

The republicans have carried Ohio by 25,000 to 30,000 majority, which is a magnificent feat—amounting to a plume—in the gallant Foraker's cap. The general assembly is certainly republican in both branches, with fair working majorities. The governor and the legislature are both approved by the people, in a most conspicuous way. No rebel flags will be surrendered for the next two years. The principles involved in honest government, loyalty and equal rights and privileges to all men, of all colors, have prevailed in Ohio, and to such an extent that those who have gone wrong in these respects may take heed and take warning.

Hamilton county has gone republican by 10,000 and Cuyahoga by 3,000 majority. Cleveland went democratic by a large vote, last spring. Our stalwart neighbor, Major William D. Beckham, of the Dayton Journal, is rejoicing over the election of the entire republican ticket, except the candidate for treasurer, over a majority for Foraker in the county, the first republican majority since Brough was elected, and over the election of two republican representatives and a senator.

Old Clark outstripped herself and broke her record. The last figures will be found in another part of this day's paper. But she did gloriously, beyond all expectation or prophecy.

New Jersey has gained a republican legislature, which will give the republicans an additional United States senator. Rhode Island elects a republican representative, which gives us a gain to that extent, in the house of representatives, and in the event that the next presidential election goes into the house of representatives, this representative would help us to elect a republican president.

It is thought Mahone is "done up" in Virginia.

Decisive returns have not yet been received from New York. It is feared that Fred Grant has been beaten by a small vote. The latest advices will be found in our telegraphic columns.

The democrats and mugwumps of Massachusetts are beautifully laid out.

It was a great victory—and there was no loss of life.

The Dayton Herald (non-partisan and independent, owned by a democrat), quotes this from the Chicago Inter-Ocean: "Villainously as has ex-President Hayes been slandered by his political enemies, there is no American gentleman bearing the constant handicap of the incumbency of a late and great office upon him, who is found at the front in more praiseworthy undertakings than this same unscrupulous citizen of Fremont, Ohio."

Chairman R. F. Hayward, Secretary J. C. Halloway, J. H. Rabbitts, J. S. Miles and others who constituted the local committee have abundant reason to congratulate themselves over the result in Clark county yesterday. The fondest hope of the most sanguine was distanced in the final count.

Our Mr. Thomas G. Brown brought out this morning's edition of the REPUBLIC, and he did it in splendid shape. He had the paper on the street an hour before any other paper was heard from, and it was a splendid specimen of work, too.

Gov. Joseph Benson Foraker because of his ability, integrity, courage and sterling republicanism stands today as the exponent of the modern, loyal and progressive element of the republican party in Ohio and the nation.

Chairman W. S. Cappeller, General A. S. Bushnell and others of the state committee who gave the campaign personal attention, reaped a glorious reward, for their labors, in yesterday's results.

Hon. George C. Hawkins is endorsed and endorsed very vigorously. The sentiment that opposed him is a sentiment of the dark ages and has no place among the intelligent people of Old Clark.

Powell carried Hamilton county by 3,000 majority, Tuesday afternoon, before the votes were counted. When they were counted he was about 7,000 behind.

It is not now believed that Governor Odesby will interfere with the death sentences of the Chicago anarchists.

How Fine Flowers are Grown.
All the fine flowers seen at exhibitions are obtained by the plants being "dis-budded," as the method is technically known. The expert florists instruct their pupils to select special kinds from the cut flower tables that they must not be disappointed at finding them half the size when they find them. All the buds but one on each shoot just as soon as the buds can be seen.—New York Mail and Express.

Earthquake Proof Buildings.
The government of Japan has invited several scientific bodies to appoint a joint committee to examine and report upon the best buildings best calculated to resist shocks of earthquakes. This is in view of the fact that whereas Japanese houses were formerly constructed of wood, masonry is now coming largely into use, especially in the construction of public buildings.—Chicago Times.

See Line Notice.
Owing to a recent arrangement, the Bee Line can now sell through tickets to all California points via all routes. This applies to tickets to and from California. By this new arrangement round trip tickets can be sold via the Santa Fe or Middle route, with choice of any line returning; or via the Union Pacific or Southern Railway lines, and return by the Santa Fe line. Tickets both single and round trip are now sold to San Francisco as well as to Southern California points. The Bee Line points with pride to their record in this California business. Not a complaint from any one. Not a connection missed and everything carried out just as represented. Think of this and arrange for our next party, which will go out November 9. For full particulars call on or address G. H. Knight, agent, Springfield, O., who will accompany the party to Kansas City and attend to all details.

A Bare Chance.
On tomorrow afternoon at 2 o'clock, F. J. & Hayward will sell the five-acre tract of land lying west of the city, on the Troy pike. A good house of six rooms, good cellar, barn, stable, hay mow, cow stable, stock sheds, wheat and corn granaries, milk house, wind pump and tank, water pipes in garden, splendid fruit of all kinds. This is a splendid country home.

Springfield and Clark county are back into republican line more conspicuously than ever before. A majority of 1,551 in the city and 2,300 in the county breaks the record.

Governor Foraker's majority in this city is 1,351. Springfield and Clark county send this greeting to Grover and invite him to come again. The snub contained the ingredients of a stimulant.

EXPERIMENTS IN HYPNOTISM.

Strange Things of the Doctors in Paris.

Dr. Lays recently made a communication to the Academy of Medicine on the subject which electrified the members present. It was on the action, both at a distance and by direct contact, of certain medicated and fermented substances on hypnotic subjects. The latter were all women who could not possibly have got their cue beforehand, and were being observed while Dr. Lays operated by a jury of scientists above all suspicion of having lent themselves to any trickery. A tube in one instance was filled with sulphate of strychnine by Dr. Lays, and the subject, who was not present, was told to put it to the left side of the nose of her husband. Soon after there was a telephonic message from the foreman of the jury to say that the patient suffered in the left side from muscular contractions, convulsive starts and a rigid body. When the drug was placed on the right side of the nose (in imagination) the same phenomenon took place.

An experiment, or rather experiments, was made on subjects who were brought in to the operator. They had no idea what Dr. Lays was going to do. Alcoholic when put to the nose in a tube no larger than a homoeopathist's vial and hermetically sealed produced exactly the same effect as if untitled at a bar. A tube, filled with champagne, morphine, beer, champagne, tea and coffee were in succession tried with their characteristic effects. But the cup which cheers but not inebriates was found too exciting for French natures. Valerian caused the deepest sadness. The thoughts of the patient were centered in a grave. She was impelled irresistibly to stoop down and scratch the ground, and thought herself in a cemetery, examining a deceased relative whom she loved. Under the illusion she fancied herself picking up bones belonging to this skeleton, which she handled with tender reverence, and when there was an imaginary mound of them she placed, with deep drawn sighs and tears and genuflections, a cross above them. Under the influence of hashish everything looked rosy and gayety prevailed.

The subject was a young girl, very fond of the drama. She fancied herself on the stage and playing a part which suited her to perfection. It was in a heroic opera and she sang her scene admirably. The sentiments were expressed with delicate feeling. Dr. Lays can, according to the substances he uses, run through the whole gamut of human passions and emotions.

What is most strange is that no trace of the fictitious world in which the hypnotized subject has been wandering remains when real consciousness is restored. It is very rare for even the idea of having been in dreamland to survive the awakening from the hypnotic trance.

Dr. Lays says that hypnotic suggestion sometimes has periods of incubation more or less long. The subject if at first gently drawn to do a certain thing, or things, and then the drawing becomes an irresistible impulse. They are first as if tempted and then as if possessed. They can no more help themselves than a man who has got to the verge of Niagara Falls in a boat could help going over.

Dr. Roger moved that the academy name a commission to inquire into hypnotic suggestion, near and at a distance. Dr. Broussard supported him. He said: "All that Dr. Lays has alleged and shown cannot fail to make a noise throughout the world. Nobody but MM. Broussard and Bourne have gone so far as Dr. Lays. He not only forces the acknowledgment of the academy the question of hypnotism, but of persons being affected by poisonous substances which do not penetrate, or it may be even touch their bodies. This is from a legal point of view a great danger. A great social responsibility is involved in the matter. It is the duty of the academy to have the experiments of Dr. Lays repeated, with others that bear upon them."—Paris Cor. New York Tribune.

The Italians of Philadelphia.
The Italians of Philadelphia are almost entirely of the lower class. The chief occupations by which these people gain a livelihood are rag picking, shoe repairs, vending fruits and nuts and grinding socialist music out of wheezy hand organs. An early riser will see the rag pickers out at break of day with bags and iron hooks, prodding into ash and garbage cans, turning the contents over carefully and selecting what they want with the air of a connoisseur, and to tell what they leave would be easier than to enumerate the articles they steal away with their fingers. The street cleaners, too, are out and hard at work at daybreak, bagging tasks and enduring wrongs no American would undergo at any price. The fruit dealers and the organ grinders appear on the scene about 7 o'clock and a day's work for them ends about 11 at night.

The Italian is a hard worker and content with small pay, two facts which make him very popular with contractors. There is no idleness tolerated in their households. While the husband is gathering rags the wife is tending a fruit stand, selling trinkets from door to door. The boys who are large enough to be clothed, are sent to school, and the smaller brothers and their wife to the general fund by gathering cigar stumps from the gutter.—Philadelphia Times.

Watch Dogs for Sentry Duty.
One of the latest freaks of military science is the training of watch dogs for sentry duty. The French war minister has given orders that dogs shall be trained in connection with advance post duty and taught to bark at the approach of an enemy or stranger. Dogs are also to be used as scouts, and if they prove useful they are to be attached to all the line regiments and stationed regularly with double sentries. "Letting loose the dogs of war" thus promises to have a literal as well as a metaphorical meaning.—New York Tribune.

Kitty Sternly Rebuked.
Little Margery, playing with her kitten, got a rather severe scratch from the animal. Her lip trembled for an instant, and then she assumed the commanding attitude and expression that her mother had assumed under somewhat similar circumstances toward her, and, extending her hand, said sternly:—"Tiddy, dive me dat pin!"—Boston Transcript.

The Perfection.
Of the age in the medical line is the liquid fruit remedy, Syrup of Figs, manufactured only by the California Fruit Syrup Co., San Francisco, Cal. It is agreeable to the taste, acceptable to the stomach, harmless in its nature, painless yet prompt and thorough in its action. For sale at Casper's drug store.

The Physicians of New York.
Doctors rarely acquire fortunes. The actions of the profession—doctors—Many make a comfortable living; few fall in the means of existence. Indeed, many doctors might achieve fortune had they introduced the system of partners, the business methods, bookkeepers, etc., which the legal profession has adopted, and they clung to the old-fashioned dignity and relative disinterestedness of the calling. If their patients pay them, well and good; if they do not, the loss of time and services is put down to charity; and it is safe to assume that this account is far greater and more extended with physicians than with any other class of men, including professional philanthropists.

The number of doctors is great in New York, but, nevertheless, it is singular how few one meets. At dinners, receptions and balls in the city there is certainly several representatives of the bankers, brokers, merchants and lawyers; at the most an occasional physician. In the country at any of the summer resorts you will be certain to meet lawyers; out of three men, two will belong to the legal profession; out of 300, two or three may be doctors.

At a series of dinners last winter I do not remember any where the proportion of lawyers was not from two to three to one of another vocation. I only remember one physician and he came in late. It is not that doctors have less appreciation of the social and agreeable phases of life. It is that they are quietly, unconsciously, naturally devoting themselves to suffering humanity. It is something they accept with their diplomas; the mission of being at the instant call of suffering, whether from rich or poor, and of obtaining their rest, food and recreation if and when they can. Truly, we find physicians to a strict accuracy, we value life is personal, and who, even if we endeavor to broaden it, lapse so often.—New York Graphic.

Wheat in America.
Concerning the introduction of wheat into America, reliable information is obtainable. It may be difficult in the present day to realize the fact that wheat was at one time introduced into America. Yet prior to the discovery of this continent by Columbus there was no cereal in America approaching in nature to the wheat plant. It was not until 1565 that the first wheat was introduced into Mexico, and then only by chance. A slave of Cortez found a few grains of wheat in a parcel of rice, and sent them to Spain, where they were ordered to be planted. The result showed that wheat would thrive well on Mexican soil, and today one of the finest wheat valleys in the world is to be found in Mexico. From Mexico the cereal found its way to Peru. Maria D'Escoiler, wife of Don Diego de Charvies, carried a few grains to Lima, where wheat was planted, and the entire product being used for seed for several successive crops. At Quito, Ecuador, a monk of the order of St. Francis, named Fr. Pedro de Betancourt, introduced wheat into the present limits of the United States contemporaneously with the settlement of the country by the English and other European settlers.—Chicago Times.
